

Daily Racing Form

VOL. IV. NO. 180. CHICAGO, SUNDAY AND MONDAY, JULY 31-AUGUST 1, 1898. PRICE, 5 CENTS

A DOUBLE DISQUALIFICATION.

Such lovely weather as that of yesterday could be enjoyed as well among the Dutch settlers of Harlem as among the Indians at Oconomowoc, and a large turnout of Chicago people preferred the former place of amusement although at Harlem winning horses seemed as hard to catch as pickerel at the Wisconsin resort. The track was very heavy and dead, the rain of Friday night having thoroughly soaked the soil. Of the seventy-one entries posted—a card of unusual strength with its seven races—twenty-four were scratched, but that the excellence of the racing was thereby impaired is questionable, as reasonable sized fields are preferred by the many to those unwieldy through plethora of 100 to 1 shots.

Marzella won by a greater distance than any horse seen hereabouts this year, she getting to the front quickly and in the first three-eighths opening a gap of many lengths, finally pulling up at the last eighth when she was seventy-five yards to the good. Lucy Belle was first passing the flag and Ella Penzance showed for an instant, both quickly falling back to the bunch. Daily Racing Form was third nearly all the way, but was beaten for third money by Bethlehem Star, whose price was 7 to 1 "to peep." King's Highway was second to the last one hundred yards, where he stopped still, being anchored next the inside fence. Borden came from away behind and got the second money. Horses not mentioned strung out for a quarter of a mile.

Braw Lad got the lead at the first turn and held it on sufferance from Donna Rita to the last quarter. Burns kept the favorite on the outside, and so rounded into the home stretch on the hard going. Donna Rita won laboring somewhat from Monte Fosse, who had raced in the rear up the back stretch. Three Bars quit after going three-quarters of a mile.

Cathedral won in one of the best three horse finishes of the year. Frank Bell, off in front, was at once joined by Espionage and the pair raced locked all the way. At the last sixteenth Espionage, on the outside, looked to have Frank Bell beaten by a few inches but H. Shields, on the favorite, kept vigorously at work although Espionage crowded his horse so that the jockeys were almost shoulder to shoulder. Here a new factor entered the contest as Cathedral, always third, had been taken around the bend by Burns in the center of the track, whereas the other swung wide. The three horses ran to the wire so close together that no one could say who had won. After a moment's delay Cathedral's number was hoisted on the judges stand but no numbers appeared for second or third horse. The entire crowd now occupied the lawn and steps waiting for the decision, and the report came: "They are betting even money in the ring against Frank Bell a place." Finally Cathedral's number was taken down and Frank Bell was given the race, Cheval d'Or the second money and Andes the third money. H. Shields had gone to the judges' stand and claimed a foul. The announcement of the judges' decision in the betting ring raised a storm of hisses. It has been remarked: "Col. Clark is great at making the favorite win; but here it was necessary to disqualify two horses, and it is hard to see where Cathedral did any fouling, whatever may be said of Espionage."

The Oak Park Stakes—one mile for 3-year-olds, penalties and allowances, worth $1,155 to the winner, $200 to the second and $100 to the third horse—had amongst the starters the record breaker, Goodrich, and not until a late stage did his name appear on the bulletin board among the scratched horses. It is said that Goodrich went amiss at his first work at Harlem some five days ago. Pacemaker was scratched just before the race. Al Fresco opened the favorite, but quickly money poured in on Eddie Jones and sent Licalzi's colt to 8 to 5, at which the Burns & Waterhouse crack was also played, and Eddie Jones finally went to the post at 6 to 5, while the Eolus, of the "Watermelon Stable," advanced to 11 to 5, Martha II, stood at 4 to 1, St. Alfonso D., at 25 to 1, while Traverser receded to 12, 4, 1. Traverser set the pace, leading to the last eighth, where Turner, having him in the deep going next the inside rails, the ill-used son of Rossington could do nothing but quit, but struggling on he landed the second money. Up the back stretch Eddie Jones trailed the others, but making his run on the far turn he was second at the last bend to Traverser. Al Fresco, taking things easily, now came on and, soon having Eddie Jones beaten, went on after Traverser. Tommy Burns did not hurry, as he saw that nothing but a derrick could lift Traverser out of the mud, and Al Fresco won handily at the finish. Eddie Jones was a bad third.

As when after leading all the way, Mary Black was winning from Imp, with J. Reiff riding the Wishard mare with one hand, the crowd yelled derisively "Foul! Foul!" it may be barely possibly that M. Lewis Clark will sooner or later lose his popularity with the Chicago public. It was "even money take your pick" between Imp and Mary Black. The third horse, Storm King, landed at the sixteenth post and Clotilde somewhere up the stretch.

Boanerges made a runaway race of it and won away off pulling up. Muskalonge, Conley up, was left standing at the post. This horse and Meddler delayed the start, and Mr. Dwyer might without dissent have left them both. Meddler was second to the last quarter, Reuben Rowett third. Here Moncreith came from fourth position and picking up the others was easily second at the finish from Paul Kauvar, who just beat Meddler. Pepper looked to be going well up the back stretch but shot his bolt on the upper turn.

Tartarian, first to break to a good start, had a hard time to shake off Eleanor Holmes, the pair locked racing to the home stretch, three lengths ahead of Primate. The latter came on the outside and joined the leaders at the last eighth. The trio whipped home abreast, Tartarian on the inside, Eleanor Holmes in the center. Close in Eleanor Holmes fell away somewhat and Tartarian, squeezing over toward the outside rail, was first past the post. It was apparently as much of a jumble as in the third race. The jockeys were called in the judges stand and after long deliberation, during which the crowd again clustered around the judges stand and Tartarian was walked around on the track waiting to be offered for sale by the conditions of the race. The horses were placed as they finished, Tartarian first, Primate second, Eleanor Holmes third.

The unusual happening of the day—and what may not happen when Col. M. Lewis Clark is the presiding judge?—was the disqualification of two of the three horses that finished lapped on for the third race. The Kentucky Colonel, by setting back Cathedral and Espionage, favored the "talent" by placing the favorite first and the "outside public" by moving up Cheval d'Or and Andes, leaving the horsemen and handicappers to shift for themselves.

"Tully" Coulter cried to W. R. Woodard, "How, now, about the Colonel?" to which the answer came: "Colonel Clark always does as he thinks right. I have seen him disqualify the horse of his nearest friend. I think him the best of racing judges, although Mr. Rees is certainly a good man."

Col. Clark, as he left the stand, was asked for his version of the affairs of the day and answered: "Cathedral and Espionage so pinned in Frank Bell at the finish that his jockey (H. Shields) was almost lifted out of the saddle. In the last race the boy, McNickle, who rode Eleanor Holmes said that he bumped Tartarian and if there was any foul the fault was his. What's that? (in answer to a question from an outsider: Were not the two races parallel cases?) No, indeed." Then Nick Hall, for whom McNickle rides said: "If the boy told you he fouled I shall whip him soundly." "No, you won't," then remarked Col. Clark. "I can, off the racetrack," continued Hall. "No," kept on the presiding judge, "you mustn't whip him for what occurred on the racetrack." Just then up came a man and served some kind of legal paper on Col. M. Lewis Clark, and that turf dignitary said: "I know all about it, and will be in court when wanted." Then he showed by his fingers just what he meant in explaining the positions of the horses in the two races causing comment and confirmed what everyone saw as the likelihood of bumping, because of the boys trying to get the path near the outside rail.

John Condon, in speaking about the matter afterward, said: "Judge Clark may justly be said to split hairs. He knows possibly too much of the rules and in administering them is apt to provoke persons ignorant of the fine points. From what I have heard of these races today I should judge that the heavy going was very tiring to the horses and when the finish was near they were all ready to lie down, and so got to bumping one another. In such cases, as it is almost impossible to locate the blame, I think it would be best to place the horses as they finish." Horsemen generally could truthfully say "we saw no foul in the case of Cathedral, but surely Tartarian shoved Primate over towards the fence."

In both the disputed races the favorite got first money. One old timer said, "I cannot think of a decision made by Col. Clark where, after passing home, first, the favorite was disqualified. He seems to think that because a horse is an odds-on favorite that he must necessarily be the best horse in the race, and I have always told my friends to bet on odds on favorites where Col. Clark is the judge, because his ideas bring the percentage up to a figure Winner—Ch. g. 3, by Eon—Amy.

Start good. Won in a gallop. Gun Metal was a good horse today and wants a route always.

Abingdon is a very ordinary horse. Ella Daly is of little account. Bergen showed speed and was eased at the end. He is a good looker but was short. Leo Lake bled and was pulled up.

Winner—B. f. by Meddler—Little Lady.

Start good. Won driving. Lady Meddlesome was lucky and well handled and favored by the cuppy track. Life Guard was best. He took the long route and was running much fastest at the end. He wants a route. Rusher's race was a distinct form reversal. He is favored by soft going. Muggins must have a fast track. He ran well as it was. Fulminate and Seraphic broke and ran green. Are good lookers.

Scratched—The Gardener, 112; Taskmaster, 112; Frohsinn, 112.

Winner—Br. g. 4, by Hindoo—Ben-Ma-Chree.

Start good. Won easily. Ben Ronald is very good and outclassed his field. Burlesque II ran well, but lacks class. Frohman can do better. He got an unlucky break and ride. Merlin belongs among cheaper ones.

Scratched—Leo Lake, 103; Endeavor, 98; Charagrace, 91; Ruby Lips, 89.

Winner—B. h. 5, by Ayrshire—Sundown.

Start good. Won driving. PEEP O'Day was luckily placed and perfectly handled. Lady Marian was favored in the weights, handling and going. Lambent, killed off in pacemaking and forced into the deep part of the going, ran a grand race under bad handling. Tripping closed very fast at the end. She is good and will do to watch. Murillo requires mud always, and is good now. Lennep had no chance with her handling. Fleeting Gold belongs elsewhere. Chenille showed a fine burst of speed, but is a non-stayer. Hanwell was off poorly. St. Nicholas was out of his class.

Scratched—Leedsville, 123; Blue Devil, 118.

where a man can afford to bet on them. The horse may win; if not, the horse that beats him may be disqualified. And again, should the favorite lose, one has a chance to get his money back through the declaring off of bets.

"What is the use of knowing anything about horses," sang a disgusted sport. "Here is shoved up into the money Cheval d'Or and Andes, horses beaten by Espionage and Cathedral further than one could throw a stone. It looks as if the rules were wrong, when for the fouling a horse close to the wire the superior horse is put behind all others. One might as well bet his money on buttons drawn from a bag as on the races run the last week at Harlem."

Hops Laudeman's book stood to win $3,000 on Cathedral and quit $1,000 loser.

Pat Dunne had a bet on Cathedral, who had worked three-quarters of a mile in 1:14.

Thorpe on Primate was struck in the eye with a clod of mud and therefore could not say what came off.

Nineteen bookmakers occupied the big ring, the "cut in" being for two days.

Traverser some mornings since could only work % in 1:05. He is a remarkable horse and richly deserves a "let-up." With all the "drumming" he has had he runs the best he knows how and never sulks.

Winner—Ch. m. 5, by Exile—Forever.
Start good. Won driving. Forget was easily the best. She got a bad ride but the soft going suited her and she won anyhow. Elcid liked the going and showed an apparent sudden improvement. Olindo quit badly and came again. He tired in the going. Trillion ran like as if he was a lobster today. Rheinstrom fell when appearing to have a chance. Baby Bill looked like a winner when he bolted.
